1. Overview of Results of Operations

Forward-looking statements are based on the decisions of the MarketEnterprise Group's management as of June 30, 2017.

No comparisons with figures for the previous fiscal year and at the end of the previous fiscal year are included because this is the first year that MarketEnterprise has prepared consolidated financial statements.

(1) Results of Operations

A favorable economic cycle gained momentum in Japan during the fiscal year that ended in June 2017 as corporate earnings increased and there were improvements in the labor market and personal income due to effects of the government's economic stimulus measures and monetary easing by the Bank of Japan. However, the economic outlook remains uncertain because of concerns about slowing economic growth in emerging countries, Britain's departure from the EU, policies of the new U.S. administration and other factors. Consumer spending in Japan continued to rebound along with an improvement in consumer sentiment. However, the outlook for consumer spending is still unclear because of uncertainty about overseas economies and volatility in financial markets.

The MarketEnterprise Group primarily operates an e-commerce reuse business (buying and selling reuse merchandise by using only the Internet and operating no brick-and-mortar stores). Japan's reuse market is growing because consumers are budget-minded and interested mainly in lower-priced items. The emergence of flea-market apps that allow individuals to buy and sell reuse products is also contributing to this market's growth. Furthermore, Japan's entire e-commerce market is expanding due to the widespread use of smartphones and diversification of consumer needs.

MarketEnterprise has positioned the current fiscal year and the next fiscal year as the two years of its strategic investment period for medium to long-term rapid growth. We are making substantial upfront investments for the expansion of personnel and facilities, adding more product categories to buy and sell, launching new services and taking other actions, in order to establish a new earnings base.

There were several significant accomplishments during the fiscal year:

- More personnel and facilities

Operations started at the new Tokushima Contact Center, which will allow us to handle a larger volume of reuse product purchase requests.

- More categories of reuse products

We used our existing purchasing infrastructure to start buying used agricultural machinery and other equipment.

- New services

We used our ability to buy and sell a broad range of reuse merchandise in order to start a home delivery rental service.

We used our reuse smartphone purchasing skills to start a mobile virtual network operator (MVNO) business.

In the fiscal year that ended in June 2017, sales were strong and amounted to 5,630 million yen. However, there was an operating loss of 7 million yen because of an increase in selling, general and administrative expenses. Ordinary profit totaled 4 million yen because of the recording of subsidy income due to new opening of the Tokushima Contact Center. Loss attributable to owners of parent was 19 million yen due to an increase in tax expense resulting from a reversal of deferred tax assets.

(2) Financial Position

Assets

Total assets at the end of the current fiscal year were 1,536 million yen.

Current assets were 1,364 million yen. The main components were cash and deposits of 825 million yen and merchandise of 352 million yen.

Non-current assets amounted to 172 million yen. The main components were buildings of 48 million yen and lease and guarantee deposits of 89 million yen.

Liabilities

Total liabilities amounted to 619 million yen. The main components were current portion of long-term loans payable of 144 million yen, accounts payable-other of 114 million yen and long-term loans payable of 215 million yen.

Net assets

Net assets totaled 917 million yen. The main components were capital stock of 304 million yen, capital surplus of 284 million yen and retained earnings of 323 million yen.

(3) Cash Flows

Cash and cash equivalents (hereinafter, “cash”) at the end of the current fiscal year were 825 million yen. The cash flow components during the current fiscal year and the main reasons for changes are as described below.

Cash flows from operating activities

Net cash provided by operating activities was 26 million yen. Main factors include depreciation of 17 million yen, decreases of 11 million yen in deposits paid and 15 million yen in inventories, and subsidy income of 13 million yen.

Cash flows from investing activities

Net cash used in investing activities was 19 million yen. Main factors include purchase of property, plant and equipment of 13 million yen mainly due to opening of new business sites, purchase of intangible assets of 4 million yen due to purchase of software and payments for lease and guarantee deposits of 6 million yen.

Cash flows from financing activities

Net cash provided by financing activities was 74 million yen. Main positive factors include proceeds from long-term loans payable of 220 million yen, while there were repayments of long-term loans payable of 152 million yen.

(4) Outlook

As was explained earlier, the reuse and e-commerce markets in Japan, where the MarketEnterprise Group operates, are continuing to expand. Our objective is to achieve sustained medium and long-term growth by building a powerful foundation for business operations in these two markets. To accomplish this goal, we have positioned the fiscal year ended in June 2017 and the fiscal year ending in June 2018 as a period for making the strategic investments needed to build a stable foundation for medium to long-term earnings. These investments are aimed at strengthening our horizontal expansion (opening more locations in large cities throughout Japan) and vertical expansion (covering a broader spectrum of merchandise and customer segments), which have been our goals for several years. In addition, we are making substantial upfront investments to create new services and take other actions for growth.

Due to this policy, at this time we are using our earnings to fund for investing activities to achieve more growth in the future. Consequently, in the fiscal year ending in June 2018 as well, we forecast sales growth but only a small recovery in earnings.

We expect sales to increase based on the outlook for an increase of about 20% in the number of reuse items purchased. The addition of more product categories, such as agricultural equipment, and the opening of more locations will allow us to meet an even broader range of reuse purchasing needs. As we anticipate sales growth to be proportional to the increase in purchasing volume, we forecast a 17.2% increase in sales to 6,600 million yen.

Expenses are expected to increase in part because of expenses for rent, equipment and personnel resulting from the addition of two reuse centers and the expansion of facilities and personnel at these sites. We anticipate benefits from the efficient use of web marketing activities and other internal improvements. Based on the outlook for the growth rate of selling, general and administrative expenses to be smaller than the sales growth rate, we forecast operating profit of 55 million yen.

The ordinary profit forecast is 51 million yen. There will be interest expenses and other standard non-operating expenses but we do not expect to receive subsidy income (non-operating income) as we did in the fiscal year ended in June 2017.

At this time, we do not expect any extraordinary income or losses in the fiscal year ending in June 2018. We forecast profit before income taxes of 51 million yen and, after taxes, profit attributable to owners of parent of 29 million yen.

Precaution concerning earnings forecast

Information about the future business climate and earnings forecast are based on information that is currently available and assumptions used when establishing business plans. Actual results may differ from these forecasts for a number of reasons.

2. Basic Approach to the Selection of Accounting Standards

The MarketEnterprise Group prepares consolidated financial statements using generally accepted accounting principles in Japan. We will take suitable actions with regard to the application of International Financial Reporting Standards (IFRS) while monitoring changes involving the use of these standards.
